CARD GAME ENTERS EVOLUTION DISPUTE

Hadley, Massachusetts. Beginning November 10, Zygote Games is offering a 20% discount to anyone in Kansas purchasing BONE WARS: The Game of Ruthless Paleontology from our online retail store (www.zygotegames.com). The offer is valid through December 31, 2005.

The Kansas Board of Education has attempted to give equal space in the state public school biology curriculum to the doctrine of "Intelligent Design," claiming that it is a "scientific theory" of the origin and development of life. When real scientists complained that "Intelligent Design" fits none of the criteria for an actual scientific theory, the Board responded by redefining "science" so that it is no longer limited to the search for natural explanations for phenomena.

Zygote Games can help. BONE WARS teaches players how a scientific theory is developed and tested, and they can learn lots of fun dinosaur lore along the way. Best of all, one of the four "ruthless paleontologists" in the game, Charles Sternberg, was actually raised in Kansas and collected many important fossils in the state.

BONE WARS: The Game of Ruthless Paleontology is a card game for 2-4 players ages 10 and up. Players take the part of paleontologists competing to reconstruct the most impressive dinosaurs while undercutting their rivals.
